Smile Whenever You Can. When things don't go to suit you,

And the world seems upside down, Don't waste your time in fretting, But drive away that frown ; Since life is oft perplexing, 'Tis much the wisest plan

And smile when'er you can. Why should you dread to-morrow, And thus despoil to-day?

To wear all trials bravely,

For when you borrow trouble You always have to pay. It is a good old maxim, Which should be often preached Don't cross the bridge before you,

Until the bridge is reached.

You might be spared much sighing If you would keep in mind The thought that good and evil Are always here combined. There must be something wanting, And though you roll in wealth,

You may miss from your casket That precious jewel-health. And though you're strong and sture You may have an empty purse; (And earth has many trials

Which I consider worse!) But whether joy or sorrow Fill up your mortal span, 'Twill make your pathway brighter To smile whenever you can.
